Since, however, the time decreases with the higher grades for both types of reaction, the decrease has no relation to the mental process. It probably indicates increase of motor ability with the higher grades. General Methods of Procedure in Giving Tests. --The private school children to whom the tests were given were told by the principal that we had some games with which they might play, coming one at a time, and that we wanted to see how well they liked them. They were told not to tell their mates about the games after having played with them, for it would spoil the fun of those who were still to see them. This way of putting the matter was very effective, for the children who had not yet had the tests would not permit those who had to discuss them. An effort was made to send each child back to his school room with the feeling that he had had a very good time. The other children then came with only pleasant anticipations. The children were given the tests singly in a quiet room with which they were familiar. The word quiet is not intended to convey the idea that it was noiseless. As a matter of fact it was on a street car line and many other noises such as the closing of doors, etc. , reached it. The noises were such, however, as the children were accustomed to hearing and did not...
