Not illustrated. 1889 Excerpt: .purposes; such as colleges, academies, museums, churches. Such institutions are indirectly carrying out the very purpose for which the Government itself is established. It is, of course, admitted that the best school for a child in his younger years is a good home. But there are many who have no home, and there are more whose homes are not good schools. For these, schools must be established, public or private. Private schools alone can not be depended upon; many parents can not afford to pay tuition, yet are unwilling to accept it as a charity; many parents also neglect to send their children, and the state can hardly compel children to attend schools in which it has no right to compel admission. It thus becomes, in a republican government, an absolute necessity to have public schools, and to compel the attendance of pupils who do not attend...
